New developments in the Crimean War

Nursing the sick and wounded

Florence Nightingale

Wherever there is disease in its most dangerous form, and the hand of the spoiler distressingly nigh, there is that incomparable woman sure to be seen; her benignant presence is an influence for good comfort even amid the struggles of expiring nature. She is a 'ministering angel.' Letter in The London Times, Feb. 1855

The Ottoman Empire was perfectly situated as a crossroad for trade, yet by the mid-19th century was considered "the sick man of Europe?"

What problems did it have and what contributed to these weaknesses?

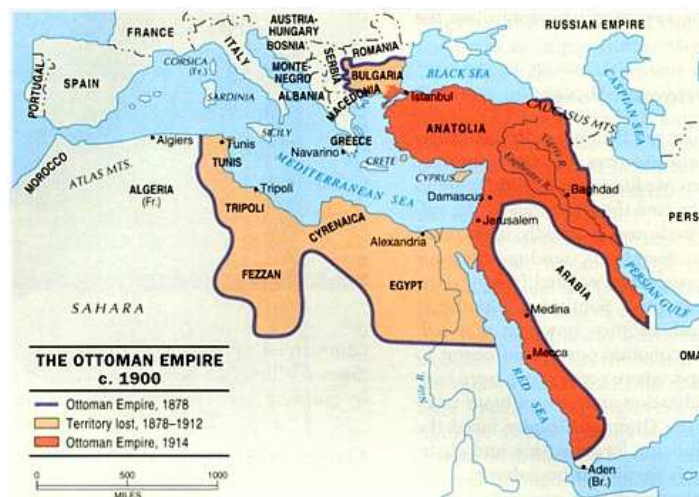

Tanzimat - Eliminated the old system of a Shariah-based government, Islamic laws and norms were removed from government.

- * equality before the law regardless of religion (a change from the millet system)

- * private ownership of land

- * free-trade

Europeans continued promote nationalism in the Empire

Nationalism was slowly eroding the Empire

In the late 1800s (1876) Sultan Abdülhamid II attempted to bring back the Islamic character of the Ottoman Empire and turned away from European liberalism.

Although a repressive regime, he failed attempt to halt foreign interference.

Young Turks - 1908 coup - led the efforts to create a secular Turkey after the Ottoman defeat in World War I

Enver Bey, leader of the Young Turks

Nationalism - Reform & Readjustment in the Ottoman Empire
